Download Novel The Hobbit Bahasa Indonesia Pdf: Removing :nth-child selector in one line? Is it possible to remove the whitespace inside the :nth-child selector using only CSS? I see that you can use remove-property: 1; to remove a particular class, but I'm not sure how to remove more than one. A: Sure it's possible. For the direct usecase (to completely remove whitespaces): `.(class^=" "):nth-child(n+2) { /* here is your space removed / }` `.(class^=" "):nth-child(n+2)` removes every other child of a selector that has an element with a class that starts with 'class'. `n+2` makes the selector search for the child of the parent until `nth-of-type(n+2)`. `:nth-child(n+2)` : Nth child will match every subsequent element of the form... `:nth-of-type(n+2)` : ...of the element matched by this selector, `n+2` means the child with an index of that many. Since every element has at least one `nth` child, it will never actually match an element. You could also use `:nth-last-child(n+2)` (for the last child) or any other combination of `nth-of-` methods. Useful reference: A: Here's one way to get rid of the whitespace: `/ Remove a single space /` `.(class^=" "):first-child { content: none; }` `/ Remove all whitespace /` `.(class^=" "){ content: none; }` `/ Remove all whitespace at the beginning of the matched set /` `.(class^=" "){ content: none; }` `/ Remove all whitespace at the end of the matched set /` `.(class$=" "){ content: none; }` `/ Here's one way to get rid of all the whitespace in a string of elements /` `/ Remove a single space */` `.code+:first-child {`
